INDIANA’S OPIOID EPIDEMIC:
What You Need to Know

It’s a common story on the news across the country and here at home. The opioid epidemic is causing pain and heartbreak. Opioids are painkillers and the country’s biggest drug problem. Heroin is an opioid. According to McMillen Health, four out of five heroin users say they started out abusing prescription medications. Most prescription drug users start before they turn 15 years old.

People who are using the drug are suffering, and their families are too. Doctors say there has been a 250% increase in heroin overdose deaths from 2011-2013. So what do parents need to know? If you have prescription painkillers in your home, make sure they are locked up. Most teens say they get opioids from home medicine cabinets.

DID YOU KNOW THAT

A sports physical or a school physical is not always the same as a well-child visit?

School sports physicals can screen for major problems, such as cardiac issues, but they can’t replace an annual visit with your child’s pediatrician or family physician. Back-to-school time is full of community health fairs and sports physical events. Your child might have recently had a school physical, sports physical or a daycare physical at one of these types of events. If your child did not see their primary doctor for the physical, you still should call your child’s family doctor to schedule a well-child visit. Your well-child exam is more than just a physical. Your primary doctor knows your child’s medical history and will be better able to answer any questions that you might have.

This is also the perfect opportunity to get younger children in for their well-child exam. Schedule a well-child visit for younger siblings at the same time as school-age children. Your doctor will talk to you about what you can do to help your child get ready for kindergarten. Take advantage of the opportunity to ask questions and learn from your child’s doctor — a trusted source.

Below is a guide about when your child should be visiting their primary doctor for a well-child visit.

Did you know you can earn CentAccount Rewards when you take your child for a well-child visit?

- You can earn up to $60 total ($10/visit) for well-child visits for children 0-15 months old.
- You can earn $20 for well-child visits for children 16 months and older.

Be prepared! Make the most of your time with the doctor. Bring the following with you to your child’s appointment:

- Complete list of medications, vitamins or supplements that your child is taking
- Any immunization records you have
- A list of questions or concerns that you would like to talk to the doctor about

For more information on immunizations your child needs, check out the Immunization Schedule for Children 0-6 Years Old and Immunization Schedule for Children 7-18 Years Old.

Prevent Teen Smoking

Every day, more than 2,500 children under age 18 try smoking for the first time. Some research says sixth and seventh grade are the most common years children try their first cigarette. It is important we prevent our children from ever trying any tobacco product because research shows that if a child never tries tobacco before age 26 that they will most likely never start.

Children’s bodies are still growing and developing, so exposure to tobacco causes damage to their lungs and heart. Children’s brains and organs are more sensitive than adults. A child might show signs of dependence to nicotine after trying just one cigarette. The younger a child starts using tobacco, the higher their chance of becoming addicted to nicotine. Children may try many different kinds of tobacco.

Any form of tobacco is harmful:

- Cigarettes
- E-cigarettes
- Cigars
- Smokeless tobacco (chew, snuff, snus, dissolvable tobacco)
- Second hand smoke exposure

Tobacco companies make tobacco seem more fun and cool by adding fruit flavors and neat packaging to their products.

What Can You Do?

Talk to your kids and teens:

- Tell them facts about tobacco use
- Tell them how tobacco can hurt their body
- Tell them you expect them to never use tobacco, or to stop if they are already using it

Help them:

- Deal with their problems
- Say no to tobacco
- Quit if they are already using it

Make sure you:

- Know who your child’s friends are
- Know where your child is going
- Monitor the movies, TV and video games your child is watching. Pictures of adults smoking influences kids.
- Are a good example and do not use tobacco

Schedule an appointment with your child’s doctor if you’re not sure if your child is using tobacco, or want help getting your child to stop using tobacco. You can also call our Case Management department for support services. If you want to quit smoking, call the Indiana Tobacco Quitline at 1-800-QUIT NOW.
